A Camp Day

Wake Up (6am)

At Camp we start our days early!

Amazingly we face very little resistance than one would expect (and that too without shouting and screaming!). It is not unusual to find many students up before the wake-up call playing football or simply enjoying the campus.

Milk, Biscuits, Tea awaits the children at the Chota Hazri where they catch up with friends and the Inme instructors and gear up for an active day ahead.

Power-Up (7am)

Participants stretch, push, pull and jump themselves out of any laziness in a fun and memorable way. Although these are just warm up exercises, there is a very good chance that you will hear them humming the rhymes and stretching out their bodies even after they return!

Breakfast (8am)

Students load up on a well thought of breakfast to gain enough energy to burn in the outdoors. Inme instructors ensure that some of the 'diet conscious' adventurers eat enough nutrition and no one slips out of their radar!

Wonderful Outdoor World (WOW) (8:45am-1pm)

Students are divided into sub-groups for the various outdoor experiences (chosen based on the specific program learning objectives for the grade). Each outdoor activity has a defined curriculum and is led by a team of experts.

Lunch (1pm-1:30pm)

Nutritious and much needed lunch awaits the adventurers once they return to the campus after their outdoor experience.

Free-wheeling / Your own time (1:30pm-2:00pm)

Students use this time to freshen up, catch up with their friends, read a book they may have been meaning to read, or sit under a tree to relax.

Activities Contin.... (2 pm)

Students engage in learning initiatives designed around the specific life skills outcomes for the program. The intent is to stimulate their minds, encourage them to share their feelings and thoughts, and have constructive dialogue with their peers and the instructors.

Tea Time (5pm-5:30pm)

Milk, Tea, and wonderful snacks await the children after their reflection time.

Serenity Time (5:30pm-07:00pm)

Students utilize this time to enjoy solitude & appreciate the power of silence.

The intent is to give them an opportunity to introspect, reflect, look within in the context of their experiences during the day, or simply hear the birds chirp, the butterflies fly, and the flowers radiate.

Soup Time (7:00pm-7:15pm)

Hot soup is much appreciated by one and all.

Campus Fun (07:15 pm)

Students and Instructors let their hair down after a packed day of outdoor experiences, learning, and reflection. Minute to win it games, noodle hockey are some of the popular games played....there is something for every mood. Great fun all around!

Dinner (8pm-9pm)

The much-awaited dinner caps off a power packed day for the students. Guessing games abound on whether the sweet dish is gulab jamun, fruit cream, or the shahi tukda!

Golden Slumber (9.30pm)

It usually does not take the students long to hit the sack post-dinner as the day's weariness slowly kicks in. It is a wonderful feeling to see all the students in great spirits, slowly switching the lights off in their tents.

Reflections

The sharing sessions that follow our Outbound experiences center around individual experiences, struggle, exhilaration, group support, and personal realizations. Our skilled instructors use emotional stimulus created during the adventure to deliver powerful learning moments.
